BIG ARMY MEN WIN A VICTORY: BITTEREST FOE JOINS CAMPAIGN

Representative Hay, Chairman of Military Affairs Committee in House, Recommends Doubling Field Artillery Branch of Army

WOULD INCREASE WAGES PAID NATIONAL GUARD

Says, However, He Does Not Believe Congress Will Consider Plans For Enforced Military Service—Stand Is Big Surprise

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

NEW YORK, September 21.—Representative James Hay of Virginia, chairman of the house committee on military affairs, and long one of the bitterest opponents in congress of better preparedness for war, has capitulated to the protectionists.

The National Defense League yesterday made public a letter from the congressman in which he advocates increasing the field artillery from six to twelve regiments.

Pay For National Guard

He suggests that the national guard might be increased if 2 per cent of the wages paid soldiers of the regular army were of fered in recruiting of the militia. The congressman has not abandoned entirely his former attitude for in the letter he states it is his belief that congress would not consider legislation for compulsoe military service.

Letter Creates Sensation

The Hay letter created consternation in military ranks here. Knowing his previous opposition to all plans for expansion on a large scale in the army, they were surprised not only because he showed signs of withdrawing that opposition, but because he actually recommended the doubling in strength of the field artillery.

Pay Idea Is Original

His idea for one-fourth regular army pay in the national guard is said to be original. Military men here are giving the suggestion serious consideration in view of the approaching demands on congress which they expect the National Defense League will have a part in pressing.

ROCKEFELLER JR. PAYS COLORADO MINES A VISIT

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

TRINIDAD, Colorado, September 20.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., arrived here unexpectedly today for the avowed purpose of paying a visit to the plant and camps of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, controlled by the Rockefeller interests. It is admitted that his visit was inspired by the meeting he had with "Mother" Jones, the aged woman he met during the time he was testifying before the Industrial Relations Commission last winter.

She appealed to him then to make a personal visit to Colorado and see conditions in the mining camps there, declaring that the miners were oppressed by the operators.

Mr. Rockefeller is non-committal concerning the report that James J. Hill is negotiating for the purchase of the Rockefeller holdings in Colorado. Hill has denied the report, declaring that it has no foundation.

Villa and Carranza Generals At Nogales Both Claim a Big Victory

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

EL PASO, Texas, September 21.—"The time has arrived when the United States must intervene in Mexico, if American rights in that Republic are to be protected."

Such was the declaration made to Senator Sheppard of Texas, member of the senate military committee, here yesterday by a delegation of mining and business men, representing many of the American business interests in Mexico. The delegates had met here for the purpose of making a presentation of conditions in the revolution-torn Republic to the Texas senator and to urge upon him the necessity for definite action towards armed intervention.

No Peace With Mexicans

This delegation urged that it is futile to expect any return towards settled conditions because of any recognition that may be given to Carranza or any other of the warring chieftains, as the situation is such that no peace can be brought about amongst the Mexicans themselves.

Contradictory reports of the fighting between the Villistas and Carranzistas was received yesterday. General Calles, who is attacking Governor Maytorena of Sonora at Nogales, is said to have won a battle there yesterday, according to despatches from Douglas, Arizona. Two hundred Villistas dead and wounded were left on the field, he reports.

Maytorena Claims Success

Governor Maytorena, on the other hand, reports that he has repulsed an attack of General Calles. Another Villista report is that the Carranzistas are on the defensive near Naco.

Troops under General Obregon, the Carranza field commander, have taken prisoner Lucio Blanco, one of the principal Villa generals, a despatch from San Antonio says.

DISASTROUS AERO RAID ON LONDON

Hotel and Theater District of City Is Showered With Zeppelin Bombs

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

NEW YORK, September 20.—Witnesses to the most disastrous Zeppelin raid that England has suffered in a long series of visitations arrived here today by steamer from Liverpool and told graphic stories of the rain of bombs from the sky on the night of September 8.

According to their stories, a squadron of Zeppelins circled above the busy hotel and theater district of London, pouring missiles upon the buildings. A block of warehouses was destroyed within five minutes' walk of St. Paul's cathedral. A six-story tenement house was shattered and its inmates either killed or wounded.

Though the loss of life was considerable and the property damage great, the principal effect of the raid was to stimulate recruiting. As soon as the news was learned that the Zeppelins were wreaking destruction on the city, volunteers began to fill the recruiting offices anxious to go to the front and fight the Germans.

Retreating Army From Vilna, However, Is Declared To Be In Great Peril From Teutonic Pursuits—Resistance Is Weak

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, September 21.—The fortress of Lida, which is fifty miles south of Vilna, is facing an attack in force by a big army of Austrians.

The enemy is reported to be moving determinedly against the city and a new battle rivaling those of Warsaw and Grodno may be expected soon in the opinion of military critics here.

While the Russians are declared to be in full retreat from Vilna before the pursuing forces of von Hindenburg, they are reported to have checked the German drive in the Pripet marsh region and to be holding their own.

Lida's Fall Perils Riga

The fall of Lida would be another weakening of the Russian defense of Riga, and would permit the passage of a large part of the Austrians, it is thought, for service along the Dvina river, where von Hindenburg's forces are trying to force a passage.

The key to Riga, the city of Dvinsk, is reported to be in immediate danger. Wiring from Dvinsk, a correspondent of The Times says a terrific battle has been raging continuously for three days only twelve miles from there.

The Russians defending the city are said to be well entrenched and are holding off a German army three times as large with an overwhelming superiority in big guns. Vilna Army In Great Peril

A quarter to a half-million men are reported to be in the Russian army retreating from Vilna. It is said that the Germans are attempting an enveloping movement similar to the one which was tried in vain after the fall of Warsaw.

The Russians are declared to be offering slight resistance to the pursuing Teutons.
